The international peer-reviewed journal Mirabilia (ISSN 1676-5818) requests submissions of previously unpublished articles that treat any aspect of the emotional domain in the Pre-Modern Mediterranean world. Candidates are encouraged to limit their primary scope to the ancient and medieval periods, although papers considering the early modern aspect will also be considered for publication in number 15 of the journal, which corresponds to the July-to-December semester and is titled Emotions in the Pre-Modern Mediterranean World. Studies with a strong comparative and-or interdisciplinary focus are encouraged.

The deadline for submission is the 15th of June of 2012, and decisions regarding acceptance will be communicated no later than fifteen days later (along with necessary modifications, if applicable). Submissions and any questions should be directed to Prof. Enric Mallorquí-Ruscalleda (emallorq@princeton.edu), member of the Center for Medieval Studies - East & West (U of São Paulo), and coordinator of this volume.

Although the language of preference is English, studies written in any romance language, as well as German, will be considered. For more information about the journal, the evaluation criteria, or other relevant questions, please see:
